Any request to access a record of Centro Property Group must be in accordance with the provisions of the act. The person making the request is known as the “requester”, and has a right of access to certain types of records held by the company. PAIA gives different ways of accessing information from a private body, and the act provides the forms that are to be used by a requester to submit an information request.

The requester must complete form C as prescribed by section 53 of the act for private bodies. The form will be made available on the website of Centro Property Group at www.centropropertygroup.co.za as part of this manual, as Annexure A. Form C can also be found at each provincial office of the SAHRC, as well as on their website at www.sahrc.org.za.

The requester can submit the completed form C, to the head of Centro Property Group by using either of the following addresses as set out under point 4 above:

- 8.1.1 The street address
- 8.1.2 The facsimile address
- 8.1.3 The electronic mail address

8.2. DESCRIPTION OF THE SUBJECTS ON WHICH THE PRIVATE BODY HOLDS RECORDS

For a description of the subjects on which the private body holds records refer to point 7 above.

8.3. CATEGORIES OF RECORDS HELD ON EACH SUBJECT

For a description of the subjects on which the private body holds records refer to point 7 above.

8.4 THE COST FOR MAKING A REQUEST IN TERMS OF THE ACT AS SET OUT IN SECTION 54

The requester will be required to pay a fee when requesting access to records from the company. The fee for requesting records from a private body is R50.00 (Fifty Rand Only). This fee covers the costs of searching for the record(s) requested and for making copies of the documents.

Take note that a requester who is requesting access to his or her personal information, will be exempt from paying any fee but he or she will still be required to pay the access fees. Furthermore no request fees will be payable when a requester's marital status is single and he or she earns less than R14 712.00 (Fourteen Thousand Seven Hundred and Twelve Rand) per annum, or if the requester's marital status is married or if they are in a life partnership and their annual income is less than R27 192.00.

The costs involved for accessing the records of the company are as follows and adhere to section 54 of the act. The requester will have to pay all postage fees for the delivery of their records. The head of the company may withhold any records until the requester has made full payment.

Action need to fulfil request	Fee per Item
Photocopy per A4 page	R1.10
Printing on an A4 page	R0.75
Copy of information onto a compact disc (CD)	R70.00
Transcription of visual images per A4 page	R40.00
Copy of a visual image	R60.00
Transcription of an audio recording per A4 page	R20.00
Copy of an audio recording	R30.00
Search and preparation of the record for disclosure	R30 per hour or part thereof, excluding the first hour, reasonably required for the search and preparation.

Should the head of the company feel that that the collection and reproduction of the requested documents is going to take longer than 6(six) hours, the head of the company will inform the requester, (by formal notice), that one third of the access fee is payable upfront as a deposit.

In the instance where a record cannot be provided in the form requested, the access fee that is charged to the requester must not exceed the fee that would have been charged if access was granted in the form requested. However, this rule does not apply when an alternative form is required because information had to be separated from the record.

In terms of section 56(1) of the act, the head of the company must respond in a reasonable time, but not later than 30 (thirty) after the date of receiving the request after the requester had submitted the request to as set out in point 8.1 above. The head of the company will inform the requester that his or her request has either been granted or denied.

Furthermore section 57 of the act allows for the head of the company to extend the response time once, by another 30 (thirty) days, should any of the following be applicable:

- The request is for a large number of records
- A large number of records need to be searched to adhere to request
- The records are not available in the same town or city as the head office of the company
- More than one or all of the above are applicable

9. GROUNDS FOR REFUSAL OF ACCESS TO RECORDS IN TERMS OF SECTION 62

The act lists the grounds under which access to information may be refused by the head of the company. The act states that some of these ground are mandatory and some are discretionary. The reason why the act allows for information not be disclosed is based on the fact that in some instances the disclosure of information could cause more harm than non-disclosure. In this guide the company will list a few examples of the grounds set out in the act, but the full list is set out in section 62 to 67 under Chapter 4 of the Act:

- 9.1. Protection of the privacy of a third party
- 9.2. Protection of commercial information of a third party
- 9.3. Protection of confidential information
- 9.4. Protection of the safety of individual and property
- 9.5. Protection of information in legal proceedings

10. REMEDIES AVAILABLE WHEN A PRIVATE BODY REFUSES A REQUEST FOR INFORMATION

10.1. INTERNAL REMEDIES

The requester can make a formal request in writing to the board of directors of the company to review the decisions by the head of the company. Should the requester not be satisfied with the answer supplied by the board of directors of the company, the requester will have to exercise such external remedies at their disposal.

10.2 EXTERNAL REMEDIES

Both a requester and a third party that is dissatisfied with the decision made by the head of the company to refuse to disclose information requested, may, within 30 days of notification of the decision, apply to a relevant Court for relief. For purposes of the act, the Courts that have jurisdiction over these applications are the Constitutional Court, the High Court or another court of similar status.
